NOTES

Laos: The three Laotian factions have agreed on Paris as a site for new talks among themselves preparatory to a reconvened Geneva conference on Laos. Premier Souvanna is suggesting that the talks begin on 24 August. [Souvanna may be unwilling to press his conditions for an international conference, including prior withdrawal of the Pathet Lao from the Plaine des Jarres.]

25X1

Italy: Italian Government officials doubt President Segni will recover sufficiently from his stroke of 7 August to resume his duties. Should Segni resign or die, the election of his successor by Parliament would be likely to be attended by more than the usual bickering and jockeying among the political parties. The Socialist members of Premier Moro's newly reconstituted center-left government will try to prevent the dominant center faction within the Christian Democrats from forcing the election of a president who, like Segni, would use his influence to block major concessions to the Socialists.

Israel-Syria: Sporadic shooting incidents between Israeli and Syrian border forces are again occurring. The Israelis continue to send patrols into the demilitarized zone along the border in order to demonstrate their "control" over the zone, despite the UN Truce Supervision Organization's complaint that these patrols are provocative. Since their pumping station for diverting water from the Jordan River went into operation, the Israelis have become more concerned about control of the border area, while the belligerence of Syrian troops has increased.
